Britain Ready In Event America Is Involved In Pacific War

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 10.—"If the United States should become involved in war with Japan, a British declaration would follow within an hour," Prime Minister Churchill declared today.

Churchill made this declaration in an address at the traditional lord mayor's luncheon in which he also asserted that the war "may soon spread to the remaining fourth of the globe."

After asserting that the British had "broken the morale of the Italian navy," Churchill added:

"We now feel ourselves strong enough to provide powerful naval forces of heavy ships with the necessary auxiliary vessels for service if need be in the Indian and Pacific oceans."

In the Pacific, Churchill said, "we stretch out the long arm of brotherhood and motherhood to the Australian and New Zealand people."

"It is practical proof," he said, "to all who have eyes to see that the forces of freedom and democ-

12 KILLED IN OHIO TRAIN WRECK

Salem Man Killed By Automobile As He Crosses Street

Robert Stewart, 67, Victim; City's First Traffic Fatality In Many Months Raises County Toll to 24; Minor Accidents Reported

Robert Stewart, 67, of 178 Stark ave., was killed when struck by an automobile while attempting to cross the W. State st. and Howard ave. intersection at 7:35 p. m. Saturday.

His death, the first traffic fatality in Salem for many months, raised Columbiana county's 1941 traffic toll to 24, however.

Stewart was injured in one of a series of automobile mishaps investigated by police Saturday night.

The victim, according to police, was hit by a car driven by Robert Bricker of 1361 Ridgewood drive, as he attempted to cross from the south side to the north side of W. State st. Bricker, enroute west on W. State st. at the time, told Patrolman Paul Ormsby that he was traveling at a moderate rate of speed and that the pedestrian stepped in front of his car.

Patmos Farmhouse Destroyed by Fire

A nine-room house at Patmos, several miles northwest of Salem, was destroyed by fire, believed to have been caused by a defective chimney, Saturday night.

The home was occupied by Robert Sumner, who purchased the farm during the summer.

Salem firemen were called at 8:20 p. m., but were unable to reach the house because automobiles stalled in the muddy lane leading from the main road blocked the way. Chief Vincent L. Malloy said.

Mrs. Sumner became curious when she heard a roaring sound outside the house, went outside and discovered the southeast corner of the structure on fire.

Other members of the family and neighbors succeeded in saving most of the furniture, household belongings and clothing before being forced to retreat from the flames.

The direction of the wind saved the outbuildings.

Also lost in the blaze were 125 bushels of potatoes stored in the cellar and a quantity of canned fruits and vegetables. No estimate of the loss was obtained.

The Sumners are living temporarily with relatives at North Lima. Mr. Sumner is employed in Youngstown.

Civilian Defense week, commencing tomorrow, Armistice day, and continuing through Sunday, was proclaimed today by Mayor Norman Phillips as plans went forward for the formation of a United Defense council in Columbiana county, designed as a coordinate unit of the Ohio State Defense system.

The mayor, in his proclamation, declared that "it is a time for all citizens of Salem to take thought for the defense of their country, and prepare to play a personal part in defending this, the community in which they live, by assisting the council and participating in its work."

Grampus Joins Protectors of Ocean Highways

Uncle Sam adds another submarine to the fast-growing fleet of ships, planes and submarines patrolling the sea lanes which merchantmen must use carrying lend-lease supplies. Photographed off the New England coast, the recently commissioned Grampus (top), 299 feet long and carrying a three-inch anti-aircraft gun, leaves its base to join the fleet in the Atlantic. With a report that German submarines are active off the Newfoundland coast vigilance is essential, so the lookout (bottom left) sweeps the sea with his binoculars from the conning tower. Keeping the radio going as little as possible, Signalman D. G. Hunter (bottom, right) communicates with other naval craft by means of a blinker.

ARREST EIGHT ON HIGHWAYS

Patrol Busy Over Weekend; Several Motorists Reported Injured

Eight motorists were hailed into court by Salem state highway patrolmen over the weekend, several arrests resulting from accidents.

Carl Wade, 19, of Alliance, was jailed in that city on a charge of reckless driving after his car was involved in a collision on Route 80, just south of Alliance, at 10 p. m. Saturday.

Wade, reported by the patrol to have been on the wrong side of the road, struck a machine operated by Richard Reid, 20, of Minerva. Wade suffered cuts and bruises. Several other persons believed to have been in his car at the time, but whose names were not learned, also were said by the patrol to have been hurt.

An automobile driven by Mildred Hodge of 552 Washington ave. was struck from the rear by a car operated by Mitchell Snyder, 25, of Sebring, on Route 14, a mile east of Salem, at 7 p. m. Saturday. The first car was in the act of making a right hand turn, the patrol said.

Snyder, charged with reckless driving, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor L. A. Bandy at Sebring.

Ralph Wilson, 23, of East Liverpool, arrested on a charge of reckless driving, was fined $25 and costs by Mayor Norman Phillips yesterday.

James Pezzatt of Sharpsville, Pa., also charged with reckless driving, drew a fine of $10 and costs in the mayor's court here.

Martin Lutesch of R. D. 2, Leontia, charged with failure to observe a stop sign, was fined $5 and costs, while Arthur Shurtump of Youngstown and Seth Martin, Jr., of West Point, arrested on reckless driving charges, were fined $10 and costs by Mayor Lloyd Culler of Washingtonville.

CALLS STRIKE OPEN REVOLT

Navy Officer Hits Action Of Union In San Diego Walkout

(By Associated Press)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 10.—The strike of AFL building tradesmen against navy defense projects today was termed "open revolt against the United States government," in a statement issued by Rear Adm. Charles A. Blakey, 11th naval district commandant.

(By Associated Press)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 10.—AFL building trades council members walked out today in a general strike on all naval defense construction despite a navy declaration that it would import outside labor to continue work on projects costing $35,000,000.

Union officials and marine guards said only a few of the 3,500 workers went through informal picket lines on the 10 naval and marine projects.

The strike, in support of a demand for wage increase of $1 a day, was called by the San Diego Building Trades council.

Both guards at the marine base and pickets, who sat in cars across the road from the main gates, agreed that "a few union men" had disregarded the strike call.

The usual guard at the marine base and the naval training station gates is one sailor. Today, three chief petty officers and one lieutenant, wearing undress uniforms and armed with .45 calibre service pistol, were at each gate.

HELP FIND PLACES FOR YULE WORKERS

Retail merchants of Salem probably will need a large number of extra sales persons and others during the Christmas shopping season, it is estimated by the Salem Employment Security Center, 616 E. State st.

Manager Johnston of the Employment Security Center said that persons seeking holiday employment are being urged to register at the employment office. In this way, he explained, an adequate supply of workers can be assured to handle the Christmas buying rush.

In addition, local merchants are cooperating in the registration of workers, he added, by sending all those applicants they are unable to hire to the Employment Security Center, so that these persons may be referred to jobs with other employers who will need extra holiday workers. This service is without cost to work applicants or employers.

STRONG PARENTAL GUIDANCE IS URGED

"Gambling dens and booze joints are not the greatest menace to the youth of this country," said Rev. Forman Lincome in another of his evangelistic talks at the First Friends church last night. "The greatest menace is the wishy-washy parent who has lost his authority in the home."

A record-breaking crowd heard the evangelist discuss the decline in parental power and the gradual decentralization of the home as an instrument in the molding of character.

"Prayer and a good hickory," he said, "are the two best methods on earth for raising a family." Continuing, the evangelist emphasized that a good family has as great a general value as a particular one—that the family is an atom from which the complex organ of civilization is fashioned. The fundamental tenet of his sermon was: a good civilization is indicative of the good homes which it contains.

"Neighbor's night" will be observed Wednesday at the church while Friday has been named "young people's night." Rev. Lincome will again deliver one of his inspirational addresses.

Derailed by Cylinder Head Blown Off Passing Freight Train

50 OR MORE HURT IN RAIL TRAGEDY

Bodies of Passengers Flung Out Into Near-Freezing Weather

(By Associated Press)
KENTON, Nov. 10.—A passenger train, thundering through the night at between 60-70 miles an hour, was derailed by a cylinder head blown off a freight train and piled up into a mass of twisted steel near Dunkirk. Twelve were listed today as dead. About 50 were injured.

Engineer R. S. Schuler of Fort Wayne, one of 48 persons to survive the wreck of the Pennsylvania railroad's "Pennsylvanian," said "something went wrong" just after he passed the freight train on his Chicago-New York run. He recalled faintly seeing a man with a flashlight.

No Time to Flag Train

In Chicago, H. E. Newcomet, vice president of the railroad, said the cylinder from the freight train blew out and onto the adjoining track "and before there was time to flag it, the 'Pennsylvanian,' moving at Passengers were tossed helter-skelter out of seats and berths and into near-freezing temperatures. Wreckage was strewn along the railroad in the little community 10 miles north of here.

A control tower at the intersection of the Pennsylvania and New York Central lines was wrecked by the train, but two occupants leaped to safety. Tangled Pullmans and coaches blocked both lines.

Speeding along at better than 60 miles an hour, the train's locomotive suddenly began "swaying back and forth" as it approached the crossing, said Cliff Schwartzkopf,

$60 IN CASH, IS LOOT AT ITALIAN CLUB

Burglars who gained entrance to the Italian club, 390 E. Pershing st., sometime early Sunday morning, escaped with $60, police reported.

The money, taken from the cash register, included $40 in dimes and the rest in nickels and quarters, according to Dominic DiAntonio, bartender at the club.

The burglars, Patrolman James Hassey believes, used a ladder to reach an east side window on the second floor, or climbed up at the rear of the building over the Dunlap garage to reach another window which was open.

The theft, which occurred sometime after 12:30 a. m. Sunday, was reported to police at 10:15 a. m. Sunday. A neighbor reported seeing a light in the club rooms at 1 a. m.

ROOM TO DRAW A MORAL

Conviction of a couple of racketeering union leaders who had leached the movie business a little too greedily reflects about as much on the movie business as on labor unions.

The movie magnates shared a foolish fancy with the racketeers. Both had a notion that crime could be made to pay, just as though they hadn't heard a million times that crime never pays.

If the movie moguls had refused to pay the extortion demanded, there would have been a lot of injury to their enterprises. They might have lost a lot of money. They might even have been ruined, financially.

As it is, they have done a lot of injury to their good names by playing footie with racketeers. They certainly have done no good to their enterprises. They have lost a lot of money and a lot of prestige along with it.

Racketeering is a form of appeasement; the sucker is made to pay through the nose in the hope of averting what ultimately is bound to happen to him anyhow. It is not comforting to think that some of the stout critics of appeasement in international relations are entirely capable of going the limit on the same thing in their own affairs. The situation suggests that the root of appeasement, like the root of all evil must be money.

LET'S ALL STRIKE

Striking, so far, is one of the inalienable rights of Americans. It is one of the things they're proud of and will fight to preserve. There's a saying that no one can strike against the government, but that's nonsense. It's being done all the time. Every strike that puts the government in a hole is a strike against the government.

The purpose of striking supposedly is to give organized workmen a better break than they have been getting. It is their court of last resort, which calls up a picture of a level-eyed toiler standing up pluckily for his rights. Unfortunately, that is mostly bosh. Strikes are called and called off by pot-bellied men with hard eyes and minds that know all the answers—the same kind of men who make the decisions for management.

The workmen, themselves, have about as much to do with it as the citizens have to do with declaring and undeclaring war, as far as that's concerned. They pay their taxes and they take what they get—and if it isn't so good why some day they complain and maybe if they complain vociferously enough they get a fairer shake the next time.

Some days lately it has been easy to get the impression while keeping abreast of the news that every organized workman in the United States of America either is striking, has just struck, or is getting ready to strike day after tomorrow. This has the same effect on an ordinary citizen as cold coffee for breakfast; it spoils his day. It makes him broody and it bad for his morale. It even makes him wonder what would happen if everybody were to strike until the people who seem so darned anxious to strike come to their senses. That should take about 24 hours.

DEGREES OF BELLIGERENCY

One of the things supposed to be remarkable about the senate's vote restoring the unlimited use of the seas to United States shipping was lack of excitement when it was taken. The German submarine fleet can be thanked for that.

Its efficiency in spotting and attacking United States destroyers in waters which the United States could abandon to Germany only at the risk of national security, and its success in sinking American-owned merchant ships already has proved beyond any reasonable doubt that the shooting war was well under way. While American never have been informed that their warships also have destroyed German warships everybody knew that they are trying to sink them.

The degrees of belligerency finally have brought the United States to the next to the last stage—the same stage in which Great Britain languished between the first attacks on its shipping in the fall of 1939 and the first hand-to-hand combat in Flanders in the spring of 1940. Great Britain had declared war; the United States has not declared war. That is the principal difference.

Looking back, Americans will see that their belligerency began when President Roosevelt made his famous speech about quarantining aggressors in October, 1937. It was then that the issue in United States foreign policy began to develop, the issue between those who believed the United States should stand up for its own principles and those who advised the United States to keep its mouth shut because it couldn't do anything anyway.

As it turned out, the United States did neither. It tried, instead, to do both. It retained its right to pass judgment on the aggressors as they went more and more boldly on the prowl, but until the summer of 1940 it did not begin to prepare itself for the showdown it would have some day with the international wolf pack.

Instead of being honest with itself about its obligations in a world that totalitarians hoped to run with a pistol at the head of every free man, the United States kidded itself into thinking the situation was greatly exaggerated. The isolationists were permitted to talk and act as though their doctrine still had a 50-50 chance to prevail, even after events had proved that Germany already had made the fateful decision to prove to Americans of all shades of belief that isolation was a myth.

The United States was in the war all this time. It was in the war because it knew its chief executive spoke the truth in 1937 when he said America could not give its sanction to aggressors. It was in the war when Germany first made plain, as long ago as 1939, that it would try to cut communication between North America and Europe. It finally recognized its responsibilities to the side it favored in the war by passage of the lend-lease act, and now it has recognized the necessity of removing certain restrictions on its war efforts by giving its ships the right to go wherever they are needed, equipped with guns to protect them from raiders.

It may be some time yet before the United States enters the last stage of belligerency, the stage in which it will do everything in its power to assure victory for its principles. It is not certain by any means that even Great Britain has fully entered that stage, a doubt expressed in the current jibe that the United States may get into the war before the British do.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, November 11

ACCORDING to the interesting astral configurations this day should be a particularly active and enterprising one, with all things moving at unusually high tempo. It should be a time for rapid-fire action, with new and important projects being accelerated to swift and successful conclusion by indomitable will, perseverance and high-pressure plans that are constructive, practical as well as daring.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of splendid accomplishment, inaugurated and carried to success on issues largely by courage, strength, and determination, with faith in sound and well-organized plans for important projects or spectacular public coups. In this there may be little public support or cooperation from quarters where it might be expected.

A child born on this day should have much initiative and enterprise as well as sound ideas and practical objectives, which may carry it to achievements of major scope by its own will and constructive abilities.

There is some question whether Mussolini's threat to crush the United States was intended to be taken seriously or as comic relief.

go all right in the countries where there is food shortage, and that may happen here. But there has to be some such stimulus as real hunger to soy bean consumption in this country. It's an acquired taste, if it gets acquired at all.

I know a man who was going to introduce South American mate as a soft drink in the United States. According to him, it would replace Coca-Cola, Seven-Up, Dr. Pepper and everything else. And the drink he prepared was all right. It gave you a lot of pep, except for the taste, which was like old, mouldy autumn leaves. The same difficulty applies to soy beans.

If they can improve the flavor, it will be all to the good, because soy flour has very superior dietetic properties. It has more vegetable protein than any other legume—twice as much as beans and peas, even more than most meats. Its fat is what makes it useful for industrial purposes.

Contains Many Vitamins
It is a more economical producer of fat than the hog. The German army is said to be relying on, for its proteins and fats, meat substitutes that have soy beans as base.

As to the vitamins, it has a great deal of B, a fair amount of G, and varying amounts of A, D and E. Only C is lacking in the mature bean, but is present in the sprouts, which are said to be tender and tasty, and soy bean sprouts are the form which the Chinese have used for years.

In dietetics it can be used to replace meats on account of its protein, amino-acid and fat values. This is what makes it so valuable in food shortage areas; it can be transported without spoiling.

It can be used in allergic diets for people who are sensitive to meat or milk protein.

Helpful for Diabetics
For diabetics it can be used as a bread substitute because the flour contains almost no carbohydrate or starch.

Bread made from soy bean flour is useful on a reducing diet, because not as much of it is eaten, it is more filling.

The mature beans come in pods like lima beans, but smaller. It takes a lot of cooking to soften them up; in fact, as baked beans they never do become very tender. They can be used as the Chinese use them, as sauces where their fat content helps.

They have other values besides food values. They are wonderful fertilizers, and an easy crop to grow. Insect pests, fungus or virus does not injure it. Its worst enemies are rabbits, who feed on the young plants, which confirms my opinion of the rabbit's standing as a gourmet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. S. H.: "Please tell me what egg yolk contains. Does it contain carotene?"

The yolk of egg is of much more importance dietetically than the white. It contains fat, vitamins and iron and other minerals. It contains large amounts of Vitamin A. Carotene is simply the substance in vegetables from which Vitamin A is created by the animal body.

SENATE STENOGRAPHER by MAXWELL THAYER

SYNOPSIS

Into the drama of state politics came Gale Holoway, a small-town girl, armed with determination to get a position and a letter of introduction from Edward Griswold, niece town banker, to Senator Jeffrey Murray. Seated in the reception room of the senator's office, Gale's thoughts go to the young man who had picked up the purse she dropped enroute to the capitol. Her reverie is interrupted by voices coming through the transom discussing the difficulties of getting a certain monopoly bill passed. "Jeff, you're getting old," says one voice. "Not old," Jeff answers, "I'm honest with myself about what I—what we have to do."

Senator Murray enters the reception room and is surprised to see Gale. At first, he tells her there is no opening and then changes his mind, thinking perhaps she had overheard the bill discussion. So he offers her a second job. Gale goes to tell her fortune to the socially prominent Mrs. Nan Parkinson.

CHAPTER THREE

Turning, the taxi entered a paved drive, flanked by tall lilac bushes. Ahead was a low rambling Spanish style house, all white stucco and red tile and blue shutters. In the driveway were parked a number of better-class autos.

A car came out of the house and opened the cab door for her and ushering her into the hall, he closed the door. In a moment returned with Mrs. Parkinson. Gale judged she might be 40 or she might be 30. She was so attractive she forgot her age.

"I'm glad you came, dear," she said. "Please come in. And how is dear Eddie?"

Gale couldn't restrain a smile. Imagine calling the austere banker Eddie! But she replied:

"He's fine. What a lovely home!"

"Yes, it is nice and cozy, isn't it?"

As they strolled down the hall, Mrs. Parkinson put her arm through Gale's and they walked on. Gale's friendliness that was natural with her. She evidently liked Gale. She liked beauty about her, particularly that of young girls who might attract handsome young to her home; and this girl, she felt, might be quite an asset. They went down two steps into a room, beamed-ceiling living-room. Scattered about the room in easy chairs were groups of men and women, interested in their own conversations.

"What brings you to town, my dear?" Mrs. Parkinson asked.

"I'm going to work for Senator Jeffrey Murray," Gale replied.

"How interesting," Nan said. "Jeff is an old friend of mine. I'm sure you'll like him."

Nan escorted Gale about the room, casually introducing her to each person until she came to a big man seated in a huge leather chair.

"This," said Nan, "is one of the biggest men in the state, Miss Holoway. Cedric is going to work for Jeff. Gale, this is Cedric Colburn."

"How do you do?" Gale vaguely remembered his name from somewhere.

He asked her to sit beside him. She had hardly taken the chair when a tall young man came up and asked if he might get her something.

"No, nothing," she replied, and noticed that behind him another man was approaching with a glass in each hand.

"Here, Miss Holoway," he said, "a drink." She placed it unthinkingly on an end-table.

In a minute she was the center of a circle of admiring males. Colburn was caught in the circle, saying nothing, studying Gale and glancing at some of the more remarks of the youths who were covetously attempting to make an impression.

"Nan!" he belatedly called out when Mrs. Parkinson approached: "Get these young puppies out of here!"

"I was just coming to ask Gale if she wouldn't like a swim, it's such a warm day."

"Yes, I would," Gale replied, "But I haven't a suit..."

"Come with me," Nan commanded, and Gale arose. The young men made a path for her.

In an upstairs room, Nan slid back a panel and revealed a closet in which there were suits of all sizes, shapes and colors. Gale selected one of pure white silk with a white cape to match.

Nan approved of her choice and left Gale with the invitation to just come down whenever you're ready.

Gale admired herself in a full length mirror. The suit fit her perfectly, showing her lovely figure to advantage. Wrapping a cape around herself, she left the room.

On the stairs, a girl, otherwise colorless, but with a friendly smile, stopped her. "If you want to wait a minute until I change, I'll join you," she said.

"Sure," Gale was glad for the company.

Back in the bedroom, she learned the girl was Elaine Bronson, stenographer for Senator Dawson, who, poor dear, is confined to his bed with a cold.

Gale explained who she was and what she was to do for Murray.

"Oh yeah, I've heard about you," Elaine replied.

"But how I've only been here a few hours."

"News travels fast, my dear! Why the gal you replaced was burning up all over the Capitol washroom. She's a fair puller, too. Better be careful!"

"But I wouldn't know her if I saw her," Gale protested.

"Well she saw you leaving Murray's office and she knows you, even described you to the girls in not very flattering terms, said you'd vamped Murray into firing her and hiring you."

"But," Gale insisted, "I didn't know he fired anyone to hire me."

"Well, he did. But come on, forget it. It's just one of those things."

"Sure," Gale was glad for the company.

Seems to Make the Years Drop Off

One of the most noticeable sensations that come to people who have long deferred wearing glasses is, that after they have had their eyes properly examined and fitted, the glasses seem to make them feel young again. They take renewed interest in the affairs of life.

This is not only due to the fact that they can see better, but also to the fact that the tired and overstrained eye muscles and nerves are given needed relief.

It is often advisable to wear glasses—not necessarily to give clearer vision, but to remove the strain which causes headaches and numerous other nervous troubles.

SHOES THIS SEASON MAKE BIG FASHION NEWS

This season perhaps more than ever before, there's big fashion news in shoes. Women have rediscovered the fact that beautiful, useful and suitable shoes, matched with appropriate stockings, are the mainstay of the costume. The three photographs show the latest shoe and stocking combinations for sports, daytime town wear and evening. The sports shoe, top left, is a revolutionary new molded sole model. It is in tan suede with short back look, and is worn with butter brown and cotton lisle stockings. Right is a shoe designed for town and spectator sports wear. It is made of bootmaker red calf and features one strap. It is unlined and handsewn, and is worn with white cotton mesh stockings. The evening shoe is a chopine. It is a naked sandal of black satin with gold kid trimmings, and has a platform heel. With it comes a black suede sock, not pictured. Sock and shoe may be worn together, or the sock may be worn alone or the shoe alone with silk sandal foot evening stockings.

Tyrone Power and Betty Grable form a new romantic team in "A Yank in the R. A. F.," dramatic story of an American flier's experiences in the British air armada, which shows tonight and Tuesday at the State.

John Sutton and Reginald Gardiner, and many other featured players are seen in supporting roles in the story of an American who goes to London on a bomber-ferrying mission and finds his former fiancée, a dancer and nurse for the government there.

Still in love with the girl, he joins the R. A. F. to prove to her he is worth more than his family's fortune and finds himself competing for her love with his wing commander, played by Sutton, and a fellow flier, played by Gardiner.

Part of the picture contains actual combat scenes filmed by British fliers during air battles over Germany. Another of the dramatic sequences of the film is the re-creation of the heroic evacuation of British troops from Dunkirk.

Showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Grand are: "Nine Lives Are Not Enough," mystery adventure, with Ronald Reagan and Joan Perry; and "The Blonde From Singapore," with Lief Ericson, Florence Rice and Don Beddoe.

Showing there for the last times tonight are Joan Blondell, Binnie Barnes, Janet Blair, Robert Benchley and John Howard in "Three Girls About Town."

racy have not by any means reached the limit of their power."

Churchill said that he was making his statement regarding Britain's intentions in the Pacific because "we do not know whether the efforts of the United States to preserve peace in the Pacific will be successful."

Churchill told his audience, which cheered loudly as he rose to speak: "Viewing the vast, somber scene as dispassionately as possible, it would seem a very hazardous adventure for the Japanese people to plunge quite needlessly into a world struggle in which they will find themselves—opposed in the Pacific by states whose population comprises nearly three-quarters of the human race."

"I hope devoutly that the peace of the Pacific will be preserved in accordance with the known wishes of the wisest statesmen of Japan."

"But every preparation to defend British interests in the Far East and defend the common cause not at stake has been and is being made."

Returning to the war in Europe, the prime minister said:

"We are told from many quarters that we must soon expect what is called a peace offensive from Berlin. All the usual signs and symptoms already are manifest as the foreign secretary will confirm—in the neutral countries and all signs point to that direction."

"We owe it to ourselves, we owe it to our Russian allies and to the government and people of the United States to make it absolutely clear that whether we are supported or are alone, however long and hard the toil may be, the British nation and his majesty's government at the head of the nation and in intimate concert with the governments of the great dominions will never enter into any negotiations with Hitler or any party in Germany which represents the Nazi regime."

Local banks will be closed all day Tuesday in observance of Armistice day. The stores will be closed during the afternoon.

Modern Equipment And Methods Insure Quality Of Work At Paris Cleaners

WEST MACHINES ARE INSTALLED

Constantly Informed Of Developments In Industry

Anything in the way of machinery or processes is devised to produce better dry cleaning, the Paris Cleaners can be counted on to know about it and, if essential in increasing the quality of work for their customers, they will have it. Because of its desire not only to obtain high quality cleaning, but also to it as time goes on, the Paris Cleaners are recognized as one of the most modern and up-to-date cleaning establishments in this part of the country.

The plant on the Benton rd. is a frequent visitor, including many of the plant's customers but also cleaners from other areas who are interested in seeing the latest refinements in the business.

One of the most progressive steps taken by the Salem firm in recent years was that of the past summer when a large quantity of new machinery and equipment was installed.

The floor space was practically doubled to include, among other things, room for a spacious fur vault and this was well planned during the summer season. Storing the furs is only one step in the process, of course. The Paris Cleaners, along with the vault, also have a cabinet which contains the garments, removing every trace of insect life, no matter how minute.

The plant was also enlarged to provide room for special finishing

Running Boards Concealed

Safer, more convenient and better looking is Plymouth's full-width running board, now entirely enclosed within the lower, wider body lines of all models, both Deluxe and Special Deluxe. Concealing them keeps them clean in wet weather, and in winter, free from ice and snow. The low floor now is level with the running board, and there is no raised sill to step over, making it easier than ever to step in or out of the car.

equipment to take care of practically every form of garment from the daintiest of gloves to the most capacious overcoat.

Not content with just good enough, the Paris, through contacts with national associations, constantly keeps abreast of the latest developments in the industry.

SHIFTING IS CUT IN NEW MERCURY

Easy Automatic Transmission Is Optional On New Models

New in style, closer to the road, and with horsepower stepped up to provide an even higher ratio of power per pound, the 1942 Mercury is becoming the most talked about car of the 1942 season. See them at the Grate Motor Co. show rooms on S. Ellsworth Ave.

In appearance, the new Mercury presents a sturdy "big car" effect. The radiator grille extends almost the full frontal width of the car. Fenders are longer, wider and more sleekly flared. Massive bumpers are finished in chrome.

As to performance, engineers credit further refinements in the aviation principles to which Mercury is built for its new mastery of the grades, its sharply increased response in all gear and for its added reserves on the road.

A new anti-friction bearing is included in the steering wheel assembly; a redesigned hydraulic brake system requires minimum pedal pressure and increased shift leverage facilitates the changing of gears in the standard Mercury transmission.

Eliminate Gear Shifting

Mercury this year offers its new liquidamatic drive, which employs a special automatic transmission operating in conjunction with a liquid fly wheel or "coupling." Operation is extremely simple. The combination of the two units serving to eliminate manual shifting under all ordinary driving conditions.

A shift lever and clutch are provided to move the drive from neutral into the commonly used operating positions, most important of which is designated as the forward driving range. Two gears are provided in this range: A special starting second gear with unusually fast acceleration, and a third or direct drive gear.

The driver shifts into this range exactly as he would do when placing a conventional transmission in high gear. Once in the forward driving range, he may start, accelerate and stop without again touching the shift lever or clutch. With the engine idling, the car remains motionless. But when the driver increases engine speed by depressing the accelerator, the car moves forward in its special second gear. A momentary release of the pedal then causes the drive to shift automatically into third.

Method Easy to Learn

In order to move back from third to second when quick pick-up is needed in traffic, the driver does the natural thing—presses the accelerator pedal all the way down—and the drive shifts automatically and instantly. Three other shift lever positions are provided for:

- (1) Placing the drive in reverse;
- (2) engaging a seldom-needed emergency low;
- (3) "locking" the transmission in second when the engine is to be used as a brake on long down grades.

Decrease of an inch in wheel size, together with changes in the front axle and the rear frame section, give Mercury its lower overall height without sacrifice of head room. The change has measurably lowered the center of gravity.

The many new developments are said to provide important new margins of driving security and passenger safety.

New Steps Taken By R. C. A. Victor

The greatest achievement in radio television and electronic reproduction of sound bear the name, R. C. A. Victor, in the opinion of the Finley Music Co.

"The history and development of radio in this country since World War I are so closely bound up with R. C. A. Victor contributions that one can scarcely be considered without the other. These contributions are not limited to radio itself, but have affected the entire course of the electronic art—electrical phonograph and recording, sound amplification, sound on film recording, facsimile, electronic microscopy, television and many other branches.

"In breadth of experience, no other company can approach R. C. A. Victor in these fields. Naturally, first-hand familiarity with its own advancements—such as, for example, in television research—can immediately be utilized in the improvement of phonograph-radio receivers.

"Now the greatest name, R. C. A. Victor, presents its greatest achievement in the phonograph-radio field, the magic tone cell, and flexible tone bridge.

The magic tone cell incorporates two new sensational advances in the quality of reproduction of recorded music. The jewel-like scanner is a tiny, scientifically shaped sapphire attached to the end of the flexible tone bridge, a slender tone-conducting filament.

These moving parts are so light—their combined weight is less than a postage stamp—that no undesirable mechanical noise or needle chatter is created.

Only an R. C. A. Victrola provides the unparalleled purity of tone possible by the exclusive flexible tone bridge in the new magic tone cell.

You are invited to call at the Finley Music Co. store, 132 S. Broadway, and see these new achievements in full operation on the new 1942 R. C. A. Victor phonograph-radio.

Proper Care Of Car Pays Dividends In Extra Miles

The car delivered to you by your dealer will give you service and satisfaction in proportion to the intelligence with which you treat the car, states "Howdy" Fowler, manager of the Pennzoil Service Center at W. State and Jennings ave. Like any other piece of precision machinery, engines and gears, and other working parts of cars are subject to the immutable laws of physics.

Miracles have been accomplished in the reduction or elimination of friction and in resistance to its effects, but necessary lubrication cannot be indefinitely postponed without some compensating loss in efficiency.

Stand Lots of Abuse

It is truly remarkable the amount of downright abuse cars of today will withstand without any apparent sacrifice of operating efficiency but reasonable care and consideration will yield such worthwhile dividends in longer car life, trouble-free performance and general all-around satisfaction that incidental service and attention costs will provide a wise investment, especially in these days of reduced car production.

And lubrication is not the only detail that deserves attention, but it certainly is among the most important, if you are going to enable your car to deliver its utmost in mileage, life and efficiency. The smoothness, comfort, safety and economy of the modern automobile is possible only because of the precision and hair-trigger accuracy of its equipment.

Adjustments Needed

Some of these devices may need occasional adjustment—to off-set such variables as temperature or atmospheric changes and similar external conditions. Again it is only using good judgment to see that such adjustments are made at proper intervals and by competent hands.

An experienced automobile service station mechanic who knows his business will tell you that thousands of motorists are driving only "half a car"—by which they mean their owners are getting only the indicated percentage of the returns their cars are capable of giving because of owner's own negligence or carelessness.

Automobile manufacturers see to it that service manuals giving complete and fully detailed information regarding proper car maintenance are supplied with each new automobile. These booklets deserve the careful reading the manufacturers hope they will receive. They perhaps should be called "Money-Saving Manuals" for that is really what they are. If their contents of advice and suggestions are heeded you will know just when to have each part lubricated, when to change oil and many other attentions your investment deserves.

CAMP BARKLEY, Tex.—Cupid has been giving Cupid, Fred McAnally, Tulsa, Okla., the double-cross. During the Louisiana war games he learned two "back home" girl friends had married in his absence. Returning from maneuvers he started for home, planning on a short visit on the way at Lawton, where another girl friend lived. He found her—sitting in a parked car with another boy.

New Test Protects Chrysler Quality

New Chryslers coming off the final production line, already subjected to more than 400 individual inspections and adjustments, are now given one more test, on new equipment designed to check toe-in of the front wheels dynamically in motion.

The cars are driven over a pit in which a man is standing, and the front wheels enter a device which rotates the wheels electrically. If by any chance the wheels are off-center, a gauge for each wheel immediately registers that fact. A wheel which is off-center—which has too much camber or not enough caster—wobbles as it rotates, and on the new measuring equipment, fluctuation of the gauge results.

The man in the pit makes necessary adjustments on the tie rods so that the indicators for each wheel read together, indicating the car has correct toe-in.

At the same time the front wheels are being inspected, a new type of check is made on a steering wheel itself. Because Chrysler uses a one-spoke wheel, the spoke must be lined up horizontally when the wheels are in the perfectly straight ahead position. If the steering wheel is not set just so, the see-through feature by which the driver has complete vision of the instrument panel would be destroyed.

The driver who takes the car off the end of the final inspection line uses a spirit level, hanging it on the center spoke. This level coordinates the position of the steering wheel and the front wheels. Variations on toe-in in Chryslers run from zero to 1-16 of an inch only. Anything over that would cause excessive wear or pitting of tires.

STILL TIME TO GET IRON FIREMAN

They're Harder to Get Now But Still Available Here

Regardless of what you may have heard, it is still possible to get Iron Fireman automatic stokers. They are harder to get as the days go by but the management of the Citizens Ice and Coal company is making installations every week.

If you are considering modernizing your present heating plant you should act at once to avoid disappointment. It takes but a few hours to make the installation, in fact the change-over can be made in really cold weather without causing inconvenience or discomfort. The Citizens Ice and Coal company has made so many installations their men seldom need over four hours time.

And an Iron Fireman, properly installed, requires but very little attention, a few minutes each day is all that's needed but even this can be eliminated if you prefer that the Citizens Ice and Coal company also furnish this service at a nominal cost.

A service man who is fully qualified will fill the hopper and give the entire heating plant daily attention assuring you of steady even heat 24 hours of every day and at the same time in the most economical manner. It's a service as sure as the heat of the sun and with no more attention on the part of the home owner.

LEETONIA BEATS FITCH GRIDDERS IN 13TH WIN, 20-0

Stumpo and Murphy Share Scoring Honors In Austintown Tilt

Leetonia High continued on its victory trail Saturday, huddling its eighth barrier by whipping Fitch High 20-0, before 1,839 chilled fans at Austintown. In scoring eight straight victories, Leetonia has amassed 285 points to 25 for the opposition.

The Leetonia gridmen will attempt to add to their string of victories when they meet Goshen at Leetonia tomorrow. Between Nov. 8 and 20 the team will play four games—an average of one every three days.

Leetonia lost little time in scoring. Early in the first period Len Puhalla got away a poor kick to his own 22. But the stubborn Austintown defense pushed the visitors back, getting the ball on the 25. Then Puhalla fumbled and Leetonia grabbed the oval on the 25. James Murphy sped around left end behind good interference to score. Dominic Stumpo kicked the extra point.

Miss on Fumble

A penalty halted a Leetonia drive late in the period and again the Columbiana county team missed a chance on a fumble which Puhalla recovered on his own 32. A poor kick put Leetonia in position again. Stumpo passed 42 yards to Murphy for a touchdown but the ball was called back and Leetonia penalized 15 yards for holding—the second lengthy loss of the quarter due to rule infractions.

Leetonia lost the ball on the Fitch 44 on a fumble early in the second period and another Stumpo-Murphy drive fizzled on the 26. Puhalla reeled off two first downs and then fumbled in midfield. After driving to the 35, Leetonia was again penalized for holding.

For kicking put Fitch on the spot at the outset of the third stanza—but Leetonia lost the oval on a fumble on the Austintowners' 37. And after a kicking duel, the visitors came charging back only to have Foster snare a pass on his own 25.

Fitch Kick Blocked

Puhalla then reeled off a gain and heaved a lateral to Foster on the 44. Another pass to Good put Fitch on the foe's 44. After being thrown back on line plays, Puhalla elected to kick but it was blocked. Leetonia recovering on the Austintown 30.

Coach Mather's eleven pushed to the 19 but line plays lost nine yards. Altomare passed to Oliver on the 20 but the ball was awarded to Fitch for illegal blocking on the play.

Fitch's aerial attempts backfired at the start of the fourth period. Stumpo intercepting the ball and going to the 15, Stumpo skirted left end for the touchdown and kicked the extra point.

Leetonia pushed to the 28 and then Stumpo swung wide around left end to score. His extra point kick was blocked.

REDSKINS-BEARS CLASH IN GRUDGE PRO GRID CONTEST

Washington Will Seek To Avenge 73-0 Defeat Last Year

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—The Washington Redskins still hold a grudge against the Chicago Bears for last year's 73 to 0 wacking in the National Football league's title game and they have a chance to get even when the teams clash next Sunday.

The game comes at a time when both the Bears and Redskins have just been nudged out of the leadership in their respective divisions. The Chicagoans slid off the Western section top spot a week ago. Washington took the Eastern division lead last week but toppled from the throne yesterday.

The Washington-Bears clash has a possible bearing on the championship in each division.

Washington's short stay in first place was ended yesterday by the Brooklyn Dodgers, who won 13 to 7 and thereby retained their own chances of a share of Eastern laurels. The Redskins were replaced by the New York Giants, who won yesterday's scrap with the Detroit Lions, 20 to 13.

The Chicago Bears, still cautious after their 16 to 14 beating by Green Bay last week, took one period to get acquainted with the fact their opposition was only the last-place Cleveland Rams and then paraded to victory with four touchdowns and two field goals. They also compiled 24 first downs for a new league mark, beating Green Bay's old mark of 22, also set this year.

Toeless Kicker

Tackle Ben Aganarian of the University of New Mexico is the best placekicker in the Border conference which doesn't come under the heading of news but what is peculiar is that his feet aren't mates anymore. He wears a size 7 shoe on his right, kicking foot; a size 10 on his left foot.

"Aggy" lost all of the toes on his right foot this spring in an elevator accident but Coach Ted Shipley had shoemakers construct a special football shoe with a flat toe compressed with several layers of hard leather.

Pitt Spills Fordham's Bowl Hopes In Season's Biggest Upset

Biggest gridiron upset of the season knocked the hats off Pittsburgh football fans and caused endless woe in the Bronx when Pittsburgh downed the up-to-then undefeated Fordham Rams 13-0 in the Smoky City. Here Filipowicz (extreme right) gains five yards in a reverse from Blumentstock, but the play didn't help the Rams to score.

In one of the most brilliantly played games the season has yet produced, Notre Dame vanquished the United States Naval Academy eleven 20-13 in Baltimore. Juzewick, of the Irish, is shown knocking down a pass when the Middies took the air in the last quarter.

Football Fans Scanning Next Week's Program As Upsets Change Standings

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Football fans, still groggy from last Saturday's extended list of surprises, are sticking pins into this week-end's program in hopes of finding where the lightning will strike next.

The Saturday gridiron upheaval left only four major untied and unbeaten eleven—Minnesota, Duke, Duquesne and Texas A & M—and each has a worthy foe ahead.

Minnesota, the club voted No. 2 behind the erstwhile unbeaten University of Texas last week in the Associated poll goes against a rejuvenated Iowa machine in a Big Ten tussle.

Duquesne hurries home from the West Coast and a 9 to 0 verdict over St. Mary's for an engagement with once-tied Mississippi State. Texas A. and M., a 21 to 10 last-period victor over Southern Methodist, opposes Rice.

Tough Games Over
Luke, the tough part of its schedule behind it, has North Carolina and possible over-confidence to fear. The Duke's trimmed Davidson 54 to 0.

Other points of interest this week end are: Notre Dame's engagement with Northwestern, Missouri's clash with Oklahoma for the Big Six title, Texas' battle against Texas Christian, Stanford vs. Washington State, Michigan vs. Columbia, Yale vs. Princeton, Army vs. Penn, and Tennessee at Boston College.

The program by section includes:

Far West

Stanford, safely past Southern California by 13 to 0, meets Washington State, which clipped Idaho, 26 to 0, for the second year in a row. California entertains Oregon State, 19 to 0 winner over UCLA.

Midwest

For the third straight week Notre Dame collides with a major power, this time with the Sophomore-Led Northwestern crew that tripped Indiana, 20 to 14. The Irish had their aerial clicking in downing Navy, 20 to 13.

Iowa, 21 to 0 winner over Illinois, entertains the Gophers, Ohio State, victim in a 46 to 34 touchdown spree with Wisconsin, plays the Zuppkeans. The Badgers oppose Purdue, held to a 0 to 0 deadlock by Michigan State. Michigan comes east to tackle Columbia, 19 to 16 loser to Penn.

In the Big Six, the Oklahoma invasion of Missouri for the league title tops the bill. The Missourians prepped for the affair by blanking New York University, 26 to 0, and the Sooners measured Iowa State, 55 to 0.

Yale and Princeton, each with five consecutive defeats, open the tradition-shrouded Big Three competition. The Tigers lost, 20 to 13, to Dartmouth, whose next foe is

New Sox Faces Loom

Neither Tom Yawkey nor Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox will talk much about changes on their baseball team for the 1942 season, but it's common gossip that there will be several new faces on the Sox team next season. Cronin may retire, and if he does, the man to fill his shoes will be Johnny Pesky named by the Sporting News as the most valuable player in the American Association for 1941. Pesky, only 21 years old, won out in a close race, garnering 40 out of a possible 44 points. He hit .325 and collected 195 hits. Boston purchased his release outright from Louisville.

FARM MUST BE SOLD TO SETTLE AN ESTATE

This farm of 62 acres, located on the Winona paved road, about three miles from Salem in splendid neighborhood. First class seven-room house under slate, modernized with electricity, furnace and bath room installed. Large bank barn has stanchions for about 20 cows, water supplied by electric pump. Other outbuildings include good tile, chicken house, tool shed. Abundance of good fruit.

This farm is in tip-top state of cultivation and when the owner operated this farm he carried 20 head of cattle. This speaks well for the farm. It is owned by a widow lady and she can no longer operate it and for this reason we are going to sell this farm.

OSU-BADGER TILT "BEST I HAVE EVER SEEN," SAYS BROWN

Buckeyes Prepare for Big Homecoming Game On Next Saturday

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—It's the best football game, from spectators' angle, that I've ever seen.

That was Paul E. Brown's reaction today as he looked back at his 11th victory as a grid coach—Saturday's sensational and thrills-packed 43-34 conquest over Wisconsin by Ohio State's Buckeyes.

Then he brushed one hand against the other and said: "But that's that! Now let's start looking toward Illinois. And after that we'll start looking at Michigan. We're still playing 'em one at a time, and they seem to be getting tougher."

The Illinois tilt, last on the home schedule for the Bucks, is Ohio's homecoming contest. The Buckeyes met the Illinois more often than they've stacked up against any other Big Ten squad—Ohio winning 15, losing 11, and tying one in the long series, which totals up 238 points to Illinois' 208.

Can't Believe It

"I just can't convince myself that it really happened," Brown said, going back to Saturday's 12-touchdown barrage. "I'll have to look at the motion pictures several times to prove it, I guess."

Saturday was observed at the game as "National D-fense day" and the bands came through with several patriotic formations—but the Badgers and the Bucks offered nothing at all in the defensive line.

Just how much defense was displayed is apparent from the statistics. Ohio made its seven touchdowns on marches ranging from 41 to 74 yards, and the Badgers romped from 35 to 80 to get their five. In the final period each team scored each time it obtained the ball, each getting two touchdowns in that hectic frame. Only one punt was made in the last half, and only 11 (Ohio five, Wisconsin six) in the entire contest.

Brown, through his 11 full years of high school coaching, and his current season at Ohio State, has watched his teams win 161, lose nine and tie two games, but he declared:

"I've never seen one like that before. It had everything! We had every defense we know, and the Buckeyes had everything those Badger runners and passers. And Wisconsin couldn't stop us. It was a wide-open offensive game, and we were lucky to come out on top."

12 ARE KILLED IN OHIO TRAIN WRECK

"Pennsylvanian" Derailed Near Dunkirk; Scores Are Injured

tower operator. Five of the eight cars upset. Only one remained on the rails.
The "Pennsylvanian" was the newest train on this division of the Pennsylvania, making its first run Sept. 28.

Coach Split Apart
Most of the victims apparently were passengers in the third coach back of the locomotive. It literally was split and flung apart. One witness said that those riding on the left side of the car appeared to have escaped generally, but that those on the right "really got it."

Several bodies were tossed from the coach along the right-of-way, said Guy Davis of Chicago, who was riding in a club car farther back.
John Sweasfeldt of Chicago, a passenger, said that he and other persons in a club car remarked that they thought the train was "running irregularly" after it left Lima, O., 25 miles west of Dunkirk.

De described it as feeling "like something hard on the track."
Kenton's two hospitals were so overloaded with injured that all doctors and nurses in the city reported for duty in treating the injured.

A relief train, made up at Crestline, O., was sent to the accident scene to take passengers to meet another train in Pittsburgh.

The crash occurred on the western edge of Dunkirk.
The control tower was splintered but miraculously Schwartzkopf and Bucky Davis, his assistant, crawled out unhurt.
Schwartzkopf said the locomotive veered from the rails just before it passed the tower. The first car of the train jolted on past the locomotive. The second car rammed into the engine and was smashed badly.

Injured and dead alike were taken into Dunkirk's little wooden depot. Ambulances summoned from all neighboring communities hurried to the injured to hospitals, and then returned for the dead, who were lined side by side on the floor of the depot.

Engineer Schuler escaped with a broken leg, but his fireman, J. L. Gephart of Fort Wayne, was killed.

Four wreck crews started before daybreak cleaning up the wreckage.

DENTON, Tex.—Sixty per cent of the co-eds at North Texas Teachers College said in a poll that they would not marry a draftee. Forty per cent of the male students thought the draft should be a detriment to marriage.
